U.S. free of canine rabies virus

By Maggie Fox, Health and Science Editor

Fri Sep 7, 2007 9:03am EDT

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - Federal health experts declared a small victory against a fatal and untreatable virus on Friday, saying canine rabies has disappeared from the United States.

While dogs may still become infected from raccoons, skunks or bats, they will not catch dog-specific rabies from another dog, the Atlanta-based U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said.

"We don't want to misconstrue that rabies has been eliminated — dog rabies virus has been," CDC rabies expert Dr. Charles Rupprecht told Reuters in a telephone interview.

Rabies evolves to match the animals it infects, and the strain most specific to dogs has not been seen anywhere in the United States since 2004, Rupprecht said.

While the incubation period for rabies is as long as six years in humans, it is only six months in a dog.

"Even though we still live in a sea of rabies and even though we have rabies viruses circulating among raccoons and foxes and bats, the dog rabies virus, which is the most responsible for dog-to-dog transmission and which is still the greatest burden to humans ... it is that virus that has been eliminated."

Rabies kills 55,000 people a year globally, according to the World Health Organization. It is easily prevented with a vaccine, but many people do not realize they have been infected and once symptoms begin to show, it is almost impossible to treat.

Only one person — a Wisconsin girl who was put into an intentional coma in 2004 — has ever been known to have survived rabies infection.

Rupprecht said attempts to treat three victims in the United States and one in Canada have failed. The victims all died.

The virus can infect virtually all mammals, but like most viruses it evolves and can be "typed" genetically. Species-specific strains are well characterized for bats, raccoons and skunks for instance, as well as for dogs.

"A dog rabies is very different from a skunk rabies virus," Rupprecht said.

While cats are susceptible, Rupprecht said there is not a known rabies strain specific to domestic cats.

Mandatory vaccination has created what is known as herd immunity in U.S. dogs, Rupprecht said, and it will be vital to continue this to protect dogs — and people — from the virus.

"The elimination of canine rabies in the United States represents one of the major public health success stories in the last 50 years," CDC Director Dr. Julie Gerberding said in a statement.

"However, there is still much work to be done to prevent and control rabies globally."

Canine rabies is still very common in many countries, including much of Latin America, sub-Saharan Africa, India, China, the Philippines and elsewhere.

Some island nations such as Japan, New Zealand, Barbados, Fiji, Maldives, and Seychelles are rabies-free.

Greece, Portugal, Norway, Sweden, Uruguay and Chile are also free of rabies.

...THEY SAY.....

CHOOSING THE BEST PUPPY.

The results of a study show that more than 60% of the top-winning dogs in most breeds are not owned by their breeders. Many reasons are given for this problem but most experts agree that choosing the best puppy is perhaps a skill least understood by breeders.

President's Message

What a wonderful National Specialty we had! I want to applaud everyone involved in making it so special. Cathi Rohrer ran the best Annual Dinner yet! Brian Bogart made sure everything ran smoothly at our specialty. His team of "dreamgirls" Vicki Kubic and Bonnie Keyes provided us with refreshments all day long! Of course, our esteemed AMSC member-judges did a fabulous job, Wyoma Clouss and Susi Atherton. Judy Russell and Madelyn Carlyn made sure our trophies in agility made it to the winners. There are others too many to mention that helped to make it a success. Thanks to all!!

We initiated our new awards this year at the Annual Meeting honoring our best breeders for their successes in conformation, agility, and obedience (see this AMSCOPE for the winners).

We as a club are growing and improving as evidenced by this past weekend. We are drawing in and honoring members involved all three aspects of the sport. We want to continue on this line. We have plans for Montgomery ongoing that will make the weekend even more fun and rewarding to all.

We are also improving in more than just show weekends. Our health committee is working hard on validating and disseminating valuable information to the membership. We all need to support them by sending any information on our dog's health issues. This includes sending results of DNA tests, whether good or bad, and associated pedigrees to them. The more information the committee can get, the better they can analyze it and make informed recommendations to the membership. As you know, this information is always confidential and would never be divulged, but it is needed to help improve the breed.

Our new committee "Member Retention/Local Club Diplomat" will be reaching out to the local clubs to offer a free webpage hosted within our amsc.us site. This page would be able to be updated directly by any non-technical member of the local club. This committee will be looking into additional services which we may be able to offer to members and local clubs, as well. Stay tuned.

Lastly, it is already time to make plans for our Roving Specialty in Portland in January 2008. All the information is posted in this AMSCOPE and at the Portland MSC website, <http://www.pmsc2.org/>. I know the Portland MSC and Roving Co-ordinator Chris Levy have super plans. There is so much activity planned, just look at the schedule in AMSCOPE, including our 2nd National Obedience trial and our 1st National Agility Trial!! I am really looking forward to this specialty. I hope to see as many of you there as possible!

As always, never hesitate to call or email me if you have any suggestions for the club or want to help in any way. Several of you have taken me up on this. I appreciate it.

Regards,

John

BLACK RIBBONS

Ch. Blue Skies My Hero

passed away at 14 years and one week of age.

He was a top producer and he will live on in his heirs. He lived with me every day of his life and I still think I see him even though he is gone. He was out of Ch. Sumerwynd Bandsman Fanfare and Ch. Blue Skies Bound For Glory.

(this is the first time in 35 years I am without a Schnauzer by my side.)

TERRIER TRIALS

The 2007 Terrier Trials were held at Kimberton PA on October 2, 3, 4 & 5. Tuesday's trial was sponsored by the Parson Russell Terrier Association of America. TALK ABOUT A PERFORMANCE!

OTCH MACH2 Southcross Rocky Road UDX3 RE is a once in a lifetime dog. Rocky is the first Miniature Schnauzer in the history of our breed to earn the AKC Obedience Trial Championship (OTCH) and the AKC Master Agility Championship (MACH). Recently we earned a second Master Agility Championship and he now is one of only 20 dogs from all breeds to have both these titles or higher. Competing with Rocky has been the greatest thrill of my life and, at nine years old, he is going strong.

Rocky's Obedience training started when he was 12 weeks old followed by Agility when he was fully developed. This little guy is a joy to live with and train. In addition to AKC performance events he is a certified hospital therapy dog by Support Dogs with special credentials to work in ICU's. Rocky and I do pet assisted therapy in several units of a local hospital each week and have witnessed unbelievable breakthroughs. There is nothing like having a cute Miniature Schnauzer in your hospital bed.

It impossible to describe the bond Rocky and I have developed from years of training and competing. This is one super performance Miniature Schnauzer and a credit to his wonderful breed.
